Edison Career and Technology High School is spreading holiday cheer by giving back to the most deserving families in its community. As the holiday season approaches, staff members, alumni, a community engagement team, and the public have come together in a heartwarming display of generosity to provide food to those in need. This annual tradition has continued to grow, and this year, it aims to make an even greater impact. Funds have been collected by community partners to purchase essential food items for distribution to families. Last year, these efforts touched the lives of more than 180 families, ensuring they had a meal for Thanksgiving. This year, the food basket giveaway is anticipated to have an even more significant impact, as it aims to help an additional 50 families.
